

PJRFSI Adds CanadaGAP Certification to Its Food Safety Program Offerings

New certification service strengthens support for fresh fruit and vegetable producers across Canada and the United States

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

TROY, Mich. – Perry Johnson Registrars Food Safety, Inc. (PJRFISI), a global leader in food safety certification and compliance, today announced it has been licensed as a Certification Body for the CanadaGAP® Program, expanding its portfolio of services for fresh fruit and vegetable producers in Canada and the United States.

The CanadaGAP Program licenses third-party Certification Bodies to provide audit and certification services to fresh produce operations enrolled in the program. Participants must meet the food safety standards set out by CanadaGAP and successfully complete on-site audits with their chosen Certification Body to obtain and maintain certification.

"Expanding our certification services to include CanadaGAP is an important step in supporting agricultural producers with credible, value-driven food safety certification. We look forward to helping organizations demonstrate their commitment to safe, sustainable production," said Terry Boboige, President of PJRFISI.

PJRFISI brings a demonstrated history of value-added food safety certification to the CanadaGAP Program, with a track record of rigor and consistency throughout the audit process. The company also has prior experience with CanadaGAP, having offered audit and certification services from 2020 to 2023.

"Our goal is to make the certification process both valuable and straightforward for our clients. Offering CanadaGAP allows us to better serve producers with a recognized program that supports food safety, regulatory compliance, and market access," said Lauren Maloney, Food Safety Program Accreditation Manager for PJRFISI.

PJRFISI will offer CanadaGAP audit and certification services throughout Canada and the United States.

PJRFISI joins five other currently licensed Certification Bodies in offering CanadaGAP audits and certification.
